

Lab 4

Your objective in this lab is to once again have P1.28 blink. This time it should blink precisely once a second. To accomplish this, you should use C code, and utilize the SysTick timer as an interrupt. Please download the new project code on the website next to Lab 4. While you are debugging, please take time to see how the compiler compiled your C code into assembly. Good luck.