

Final presentations should be:

- Between 6-8 minutes long
- Both design group members should present for some time
- Should include a broad description of your project
- Should include pseudocode with a description
- Should include a list of features that you added (advertise humbly)
- Should include a list of problems that you encountered
- Should conclude with a demonstration of your project

Your audience does not know your project as well as you do, so use this opportunity to teach us what you've done.
