

USNA Marathon Team: 2019 Marine Corps Marathon After Action Report

Date: Sunday, October 27, 2019

Event: The 44th Anniversary of the Marine Corps Marathon

Distance: 26.2 miles / 42.2 kilometers

Location: Washington, DC

Weather: Complete and absolute rain for the majority of the race with temps around 65 degrees. The weather would clear up around noon and became around 80 degrees and sunny.

Participants: 18 runners, 1 Officer Representative (LCDR Casey Rayburg)

Summary:

The Naval Academy Marathon Team did not have an official Movement Order for the Marine Corps Marathon this year. This is due to the nature of the lottery system of the race. However, we did have 19 runners from the Navy Marathon Team racing in the 44th Annual Marine Corps Marathon!

The 44th MCM Expo was held at the Gaylord National Resort & Convention Center in Fort Washington, Maryland

The D.C. Metro was incredibly packed both before and after the race, as this was the primary means of transportation around the city for many runners. The race was very wet the entire time. There were many deep puddles along the course ~ poor shoes.

Conclusion:

Overall, the race was a success. It was incredibly motivating to run along side so many military members from all branches, as well as very emotional to honor comrades in arms who have been killed or are missing in action. We had many significant achievements, such as 19 runners who beat Oprah Winfrey's MCM time (4:29:20) from her race in 1994. All runners were thoroughly drenched at some point during the race. In the future, the team would like to make this an official movement order once more.
